Dear Jackie:

I am writing to tell you something you already know – advertising in the Toledo Business Journal works!!

Over the past year, I have placed several ads in your publication and participated in a feature article on employee benefits. As a direct result of this high-profile exposure, we have received numerous calls from your readers inquiring about Roemer Insurance and the health plans we provide. Of course, the best part is that many of these callers are now clients!

We are grateful to you and your staff for keeping our business community informed, and for providing a network through which local businesses can do business locally.

Thank You!
